944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing Generated: 1 July, 2025, 07:32

Enduro Posted by Big Dog - 16 Nov 2008 08:06
There was discussion about being able to ues two different cars for the enduro by using a portable transponder and switching it at the pit stop, at least for the 944 group.
Is that going to be permitted?
Do any of you guys have 5 lb extinguishers for the pit stalls. I don't have one.
What other equipment will we need (I haven't read the rules yet:unsure:? Will we need absorbent and water in the pit? That was required in Sonoma.
Getting excited.
Big Dog
Re:Enduro Posted by joepaluch - 17 Nov 2008 01:43
The swapping of cars when away with change to 3hr race length. That was only an option for 4 hrs.
I am sure each fueler will need a large FE in the pits. I have one that I keep in my truck for that. We might be able to share that between cars, but there is a chance that if both come in at the same time you will be short.
As it comes to water and absobant I would guess that a few guys could share those.
Club racing az website has all the enduro sups