

Who's going to Lihrednuht this month?

Most of us don't really like to run Thunderhill backwards because of several reasons but this time it seems that the PRC is going to be there so that means we don't have to run with the crowded Group A.

Just curious as to see who might consider going for this race on May 22nd. I wasn't planning on going but the wife kind of gave me the green light if I want to.
