

Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by dancing944 - 01 Jun 2016 07:18

I figured I might as well start a thread for our next NASA event. We have had very good turnouts and very good racing. I'm looking forward to more.

Who's in?

Everett

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by JDeLira - 24 Jun 2016 10:35

I will post videos of the qualifying race and second race this weekend. I forgot to mention that I miscalculated on fuel for the first race and had heat issues in the second race which explains why you see me back off, short shift and sometimes coast after the first few laps of both races. Had no such problem during the qualifying race.

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by ChuckS - 26 Jun 2016 19:31

Here are my Sat. and Sunday Race Videos and Debby's Sunday Time Trial Session #2.

These are only front camera videos as my rear camera did not work all weekend except for the Saturday race, and the rear view mirror shows what is happening in the rear even better. Neither worked for the QR, which is significant as it would have answered some questions.

These are the full race, but, especially the Sunday race, is a bit boring after the first couple of laps. At least the Saturday race will show everyone catching me after my shift linkage messed up again. I had only 5th gear and an occasional 3rd gear for the last half of the race.

Sat Race:

youtu.be/enH0t2q4hFc

Sun Race:

youtu.be/enH0t2q4hFc

Debby Time Trial Session #2 on Sun:

youtu.be/XUEkV14kFEw
