

Early 944 Engine For Sale (SoCal) - $200

Posted by genikz - 06 Feb 2012 13:35

Just curious if anybody is interested in a spare engine? I'm tired of bumping into this thing in my garage. Unknown mileage but the crank spins very smooth. No accessories, manifolds, fuel rail, injectors, etc.

It's an early block (I believe an 83 or 84) with very good cylinder bores. The head and cam tower are removed, so willing to sell separate or as a unit. All have been stored in-doors and I make sure to spin the crank every now and again to keep things freed up.

Asking:

$150 for the bottom end

$50 for the head (pulled from another engine)

$25 for the cam tower (pulled from another engine)

or $200 for the lot, as is

Pictures upon request. Please email me at genikz [at] yahoo [dot] com

Located in Orange, CA

=====

Re: Feeler: Long Block with Very Good Bores (SoCal)

Posted by whaxed - 22 May 2012 22:25

I'd be the spinner. I'm hopefully getting my car back this weekend for examination. Will make a decision shortly after...

=====

Re: Feeler: Long Block with Very Good Bores (SoCal)

Posted by genikz - 23 May 2012 16:46

whaxed wrote:

I'd be the spinner. I'm hopefully getting my car back this weekend for examination. Will make a decision shortly after...

Sorry to hear about your engine woes. I also have a crank from a donor engine, if that's all you need.

=====

Re: Feeler: Long Block with Very Good Bores (SoCal)

Posted by Big Dog - 25 May 2012 07:17

Aubie, I will be going up for the Infineon race and can provide transport, from So Cal, for whatever might be needed. Let me know if I can help save some shipping costs for you.

Big Dog, Little Kat, Piper and the Mothership

=====

Re: Feeler: Long Block with Very Good Bores (SoCal)

Posted by genikz - 08 Aug 2012 11:16

I need this stuff gone. Price reduced.

$150 for the bottom end

$50 for the head (pulled from another engine)

$25 for the cam tower (pulled from another engine)

or $200 for the lot, as is

genikz [at] yahoo [dot] com

=====

Re: Early 944 Engine For Sale (SoCal) - $200

Posted by genikz - 11 Sep 2012 17:29

I'm open to any reasonable offer...

=====