

Generation gap

Posted by Gary_44 - 21 Oct 2008 09:34

My teenage son called me from my Dad's ranch shop and said, "I just figured out why they call them Phone Dials rims";

He was out there working on his car when the old rotary phone rang. He thought there was a fire alarm, he'd never heard a real phone ring. When he found the source of the noise, it hit him: Phone Dials!

Funniest thing is he called me on his cell phone because he didn't know how to use the dial.

I feel old now.

Re:Generation gap

Posted by LVkid76 - 23 Oct 2008 06:40

Nice story and sad but true.

Nice pic.
